

DRIVEN TO BAY BY NERVY LAD

Two-hundred-pound Brute Assaults a Six-year-old Girl.

HUNTED WITH SHOTGUNS

THREATENS TO KILL YOUNG BOY ON HIS TRAIL.

DOGGING the footsteps of a 200-pound brute whom a weeping mother had pointed out to him, Alva Blake, a 17-year-old boy, braved clubs and blows, and only abandoned his chase when the fugitive drove him, at revolver's point, from a moving train. Up to a late hour last night the police and sheriff's deputies were hunting the man, who had assaulted a 6-year-old girl on the City and County building grounds. Between this city and Murray men were out with loaded shotguns.

Young Blake began the pursuit after the mother, frantic at the story of her little girl, had chased the man from a vacant lot near Fifth South and State streets. The little girl had met the fellow earlier in the day. Missing her daughter, the mother was first worried, then wild with anxiety.

The little girl came to her in the afternoon and told her story. The man was still in sight and the mother ran toward him. He retreated as she approached, and finally broke into a run. Then young Blake met the woman.

"She said," said the boy, "and told me to follow that man till I could find an officer. I asked her what was her address, and then I followed him."

The boy was game. He kept as close as possible behind the fugitive, who was making his way in a zig-zag course south and west. Once the man stopped and picked up a piece of two-by-four. He faced about and came toward the boy. The latter stood his ground, and as several men were coming into sight, the fellow started on again. At another time he lay in wait behind a haystack near the Portland Cement company's plant, but the boy saw him just in time.

Here George Palmer met young Blake, who told him what the little girl knew and what he had surmised about the affair. He begged Palmer to telephone to the police. This he did at once.

The patrol wagon, with Sergeant Roberts and Driver Will Armstrong, was driven as fast as possible to the cement works. Two minutes before its arrival the fugitive had leaped aboard a southbound freight train. Young Blake, first filling his pockets with rocks, boarded the train. He was on a ladder, looking down along the cars for his quarry, when he heard a noise above him. Looking up, he saw the man he had been pursuing. He held a revolver and said: "Jump off or I'll blow off your head!" Blake leaped and made his way to the cement works.

Country Up in Arms.

Roberts notified the county jail and headquarters. Word was sent to Murray at once. Making a hurry-up run back to the passenger station, Roberts had the dispatch telegraphed to the man's description down the road. Later, in company with Detectives Raleigh and Shannon and young Blake, he took a double rig and drove down to Murray, looking along the railway track for the man wanted. Meantime Deputy Marshal William Caldwell of Murray had kept watch of the freight train, but had seen nothing of the fugitive. From section men he learned that a man answering the description had started and gone back toward Salt Lake. He at once notified parties on Fourteenth South and Twelfth South streets of the facts, and these men went out with loaded shotguns on the hunt.

In Bingham Junction the train crew searched the freight cars and found no trace of the man. The search was kept up in Murray and Salt Lake until early morning, but up to that time had not resulted in a capture.

RIOT AT DEDICATION OF A NEW SYNAGOGUE

St. Louis, July 16.—Two thousand persons fought with the police today in a wild scramble to gain admittance to the dedication services of the new synagogue of the Congregation Shalom Sphard. A number were crushed, but not seriously hurt, hats were crushed, women's dresses torn, and several women fainted. The edifice was crowded to its capacity when the doors were closed upon a horde that filled Washington street for a block. The outsiders tried to force the doors open, and a cordon of police was summoned. Several persons became belligerent and police clubs were brought into play. In the confusion B. Frank, one of the directors of the congregation was dragged into the street and roughly handled. Finally the police got the upper hand.

RUSSIAN CENTER IS PUSHED BACK

Complete Occupation of South Sakhalin by Japanese.

EIGHT PRISONERS TAKEN

PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENSE OF VLADIVOSTOK.

Tokio, July 16, 2 p. m.—It is officially announced that the Russian center holding Darline and vicinity was attacked July 12 and offered stubborn resistance. The attack was renewed at dawn of July 12, when the Japanese dislodged the Russians, driving them in the direction of Mauka. This victory ensures complete occupation of south Sakhalin by the Japanese. Eighty prisoners were taken by the Japanese, among whom was Lieutenant Maximilia. Four field pieces, one machine gun and ammunition warehouses were completed. The Japanese loss was about seventy men killed or wounded. The Russians lost 160 men.

Will Make a Stand. Tokio, July 15, 7 p. m.—Reliable information has been received here that the Russian forces in northern Korea have gradually been driven northward since last month and now hold only two positions south of the Tumen river.

The latest information from the front, however, reports the advance south of a large force from Vladivostok, but it is believed the Russians will halt at Vladivostok and the Tumen and concentrate their forces to make a resolute stand there against the Japanese advance.

The rainy season has set in in Manchuria and prevents movements on a large scale.

Wreck Is Complete.

Tokio, July 16.—Admiral Yamada, commanding a squadron sent north on a reconnaissance, reports that the Russian cruiser Izumrud is a complete wreck and that there is no hope of recovering her. The vessel lies beached heading west southwest on the northern point of the southern entrance to Vladivostok, about 200 miles north-east of Vladivostok.

A report by Captain Baron Ferzen of the Japanese fleet sent north on the sea of Japan the Izumrud was cut off from the remainder of the fleet and steamed at full speed for Vladivostok. Two minutes before its arrival the fugitive had leaped aboard a southbound freight train. Young Blake, first filling his pockets with rocks, boarded the train. He was on a ladder, looking down along the cars for his quarry, when he heard a noise above him. Looking up, he saw the man he had been pursuing. He held a revolver and said: "Jump off or I'll blow off your head!" Blake leaped and made his way to the cement works.

Bougouin Pardoned.

Tokio, July 16.—Premier Kabura, on the authority of Emperor Mutsuhito, has signed a pardon for Captain A. E. Bougouin and Makl, his Japanese clerk. The amnesty includes freedom from public surveillance.

Captain Bougouin, a prominent French resident of Tokio and formerly attached to the French legation here, had been charged with reporting to the Japanese government the location of the railway track for the man wanted. Meantime Deputy Marshal William Caldwell of Murray had kept watch of the freight train, but had seen nothing of the fugitive. From section men he learned that a man answering the description had started and gone back toward Salt Lake. He at once notified parties on Fourteenth South and Twelfth South streets of the facts, and these men went out with loaded shotguns on the hunt.

Linevitch's Army.

Tokio, July 16.—It is unofficially reported that General Linevitch's force numbers nearly 400,000 now, and it is reported that he is extensively using motor transport for bringing forward men, supplies and ammunition. An officer who recently returned from Manchuria expresses the opinion that Linevitch plans a great demonstration to synchronize with the meeting of the plenipotentiaries, but that he does not intend real aggression.

It is understood that Captain Bougouin returns permanently to France.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE TRIST M. WITE

Wisdom of Czar's Choice Becomes More Apparent Every Day.

MESSAGE TO ROOSEVELT

PRINCE OUKHTOMSKY'S SUIT FOR SLANDER.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—M. Witte spent an hour with Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador, at the Kiehmichel palace today, discussing the forthcoming peace conference. Before leaving for Paris next Wednesday M. Witte will have still another audience with the emperor, and in the meantime he must pay a round of official visits to all the imperial ministers. M. Witte is expected to be the bearer of a personal message from the emperor to President Roosevelt. The Associated Press is authorized by M. Hartwig, director of the first department of the foreign office, to deny in the most categorical fashion the report of the alleged contents of the instructions of M. Witte, published in Paris by the Echo de Paris, and elsewhere abroad.

Mere Guesses.

"Reports pretending to reveal the character of the instructions to the Russian plenipotentiaries are mere guesses," said M. Hartwig, director of the foreign office, when he was asked to explain the instructions of M. Witte, published in Paris by the Echo de Paris, and elsewhere abroad. "Reports pretending to reveal the character of the instructions to the Russian plenipotentiaries are mere guesses," said M. Hartwig, director of the foreign office, when he was asked to explain the instructions of M. Witte, published in Paris by the Echo de Paris, and elsewhere abroad.

Pure Inventions.

M. Hartwig also pronounced the stories that M. Muraviev's displacement was the result of intrigues by Foreign Minister Lamorsdorf, to be pure inventions. The Novostoi says it believes that the desire of the anti-German coalition, which Great Britain is trying to engineer to restore Russia as a threat against German aggression, is the cause of the Russian plenipotentiaries.

"Europe wants to end the war," says the paper, "as Russia's preoccupation in the far east destroys the political equilibrium. Austria is in danger from Germany, and Germany is in danger from Russia. The Russian plenipotentiaries are in the hands of the Russian plenipotentiaries. Europe wants to end the war," says the paper, "as Russia's preoccupation in the far east destroys the political equilibrium. Austria is in danger from Germany, and Germany is in danger from Russia. The Russian plenipotentiaries are in the hands of the Russian plenipotentiaries.

Supports Witte.

Prince Metechersky, editor of Grashdanin, in warmly supporting M. Witte's appointment, declares him to be the only Russian statesman equal to the task set him.

Reports are printed that M. Putkovsky, formerly Russian financial agent at New York, will be added to the commission or will replace a member of the plenipotentiaries M. Shipoff, director of the Russian treasury department, but these reports cannot be confirmed today.

Count Ignatieff, instead of Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, will succeed M. Bougouin as minister of the interior, according to the Slovo.

Long-distance Eavesdropper.

A circuit across the continent is not unusual for the Associated Press. A circumstance, common enough from the operator's standpoint but amusing to the public, is the formation of such a circuit recently. On the Sunday following the naval battle in the Korean straits the Associated Press offices were kept busy all day for bulletins. Ordinarily work does not begin until 5 o'clock Sunday evening, but on this day every office, including the Salt Lake office, was kept busy all day.

Will Be No Duel.

It was thought that these attacks would result in a duel between the two writers.

The Bourse Gazette prints a long article attacking the Northeastern Siberian company of St. Petersburg, which is presided over by M. Contonovsky, having Admiral Abashev, of Yalu fame, among the stockholders, but which the paper says is really managed by John Rosin, an American, for the benefit of Americans. The Bourse Gazette asserts that the company has taken entire possession of the sparsely populated Chakotsky peninsula, where mining privileges are denied to Russians. It characterizes a threat of an American warning against the American invasion of Russian territory, which is connived at by the Yalu scoundrels.

STEAMER FINALLY ALLOWED TO LEAVE

Honolulu, July 16.—The steamer Stanley Dollar left at midnight last night for Victoria, B. C., taking 400 Japanese. The vessel was given a passenger license after an examination by Inspector Birmingham, who came here on the Manchu.

The Stanley Dollar gave a bond for $36,000 in her libel cases. Captain Bruce was acquitted on a charge of grossly cheating passengers by selling them tickets to Seattle when the vessel was unable to leave. A similar charge against Mr. Dollar will be tried next week.

QUIT SUNDAY FOR ROOSEVELT FAMILY

Oyster Bay, July 15.—President Roosevelt passed today at Lagoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, their children and his guests, he attended the service at the Episcopal church, but did not leave his home during the remainder of the day. No official visitors were received.

ALEXANDER BETTER.

New York, July 16.—The condition of James W. Alexander, former president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, who is ill at a retreat on Long Island, was today reported to be generally improved.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

Columbus, O., July 16.—The plant of the Columbus Packing company on the south side was destroyed by fire today. Loss $185,000. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

WHOLE NATION CLOSE TOUCH

Remarkable Feat of Telegraphing Start to Walk From Salt Lake to Grand Junction.

INSULTS FROM AFAR OFF

LISTEN IN SALT LAKE TO CONVERSATION ON THE COAST.

A remarkable feat of telegraphing, in which the Salt Lake office of the Associated Press played a prominent part, was accomplished recently. Usually direct from Kansas City to Salt Lake and relayed in Salt Lake to San Francisco and the northwest. On this occasion, after the regular report had closed in the early morning, connected San Francisco direct to Kansas City. San Francisco placed San Diego, Fresno and Los Angeles on the wires, while Salt Lake put on Montana, Oregon and Washington. Denver then put on Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Leadville, while Kansas City added St. Joseph, St. Louis and Chicago. The Chicago operator, however, failed to connect with San Francisco, so he put on a circuit to which ordinarily he relays matter, adding Memphis, Nashville and New Orleans. Memphis promptly added Dallas and Little Rock.

All Sections Unite.

This placed north, south, east and west—almost all the leading cities of the United States—on one wire. The experiment was not prearranged, but was the result of intrigues by Foreign Minister Lamorsdorf, to be pure inventions. The Novostoi says it believes that the desire of the anti-German coalition, which Great Britain is trying to engineer to restore Russia as a threat against German aggression, is the cause of the Russian plenipotentiaries.

Shocking Tragedy in Alabama

White Woman Brutally Assaulted and Murdered—Negroes Saved From Death at the Hands of a Mob by State Militia.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16.—At the request of Sheriff Chandler, of Gadsden, Ala., where a mob of 200 persons gathered tonight and threatened to lynch five negroes and a white woman charged with the murder and rape of Mrs. S. J. Smith, a white woman, Governor Jelks ordered out of that place. After Congressman John L. Burnett, Lieutenant A. R. Brindley, in command of the militia, Sheriff Chandler and a posse of men, they went to the mob, they dispersed. This double trouble looked for tonight.

AT POINT OF A PISTOL

Edward Ajax Held Up Early This Morning, But Made a Talk and Saved His Money.

A tale of distress softened the heart of a masked and armed highwayman early this morning. Edward Ajax, of 362 East Fourth South street got back his money by a plausible words, spoken while he faced a revolver muzzle. Ajax was on his way from the last Saltair train to his home. He was walking along the corner of Second West street. He has been ill lately and became tired. He leaned against an old man who was walking toward him. A masked man slipped up behind him.

ENGINEER KILLED.

New Orleans, July 16.—A Southern Pacific freight train was wrecked near Lafayette, La., today, and Engineer Whelan killed and Fireman Coine badly hurt.

The wreck was caused by an open switch, and all signs point to a deliberate attempt to wreck a passenger train. For the switch light was moved by the engineer, and the engineer was killed. The passenger passed through an hour before and the freight was running on the passenger train's time.

JAPS RECONNOITERING.

Nikolskoe, Asiatic Russia, July 16.—Four Japanese torpedo destroyers reconnoitered Olga and Vladimir bays, northeast of Vladivostok, July 14 and 15. They made soundings and examined the shores and were evidently investigating the possibilities of landings of troops. They examined the wreck of the Russian cruiser Izumrud by means of divers.

TRAGIC END OF A SPREE.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.—Charles Huntington, formerly a St. Louis broker, fatally shot himself in the presence of a half dozen drunken companions in an early morning carouse in the apartment of Nona Leslie, reputed to be Huntington's mistress. He took the revolver from the woman's dresser. Insane jealousy is the probable cause.

RUMOR WAS UNTRUE.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—Investigation of a report that soldiers are being carried on board the warships in the Black sea to overawe possible mutineers proves to be untrue.

TWO BOMBS THROWN.

Kutais, Transcaucasia, July 16.—During the rendition of a musical program in a public garden here today two bombs were thrown. No one was killed.

KILLED BY AGITATORS.

Milau, July 16.—Baron Bistrom, a large land owner, has been killed and Baron Hahn, another land owner wounded by agitators.

PLACE FOR GRAND DUKE.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—Grand Duke Segine Michailovitch has been appointed to the newly created post of inspector general of artillery.

FOUR CHILDREN FAR FROM HOME

Start to Walk From Salt Lake to Grand Junction.

WAIFS AMONG STRANGERS

MOTHER IN LOS ANGELES LOOKING FOR HELP.

Alone and penniless, four slips of children started to walk to Grand Junction, Colo., yesterday. When Fireman Fred Cowan stopped the engine he was trying out near Bingham Junction, at sight of the four little figures beside the track, he got a story that made him break company rules and take the tired, dusty quartette into his cab. He carried them into the city, and last night he and Mrs. Cowan gave them shelter.

Robert Lloyd, their father, was killed in the Scofield mine explosion five years ago. Their mother took them to Grand Junction, where they were washing. The two oldest girls—one is nearly 17, the other 15 years of age—were in a restaurant. It was not the easiest thing in the world making ends meet.

Ten days ago Mrs. Lloyd went to Los Angeles. A brother lived there. Three days ago she sent tickets for her children to join her. They boarded the train, Bessie, the oldest, acting as mother. Heedless of her best to help the two little boys, Tommy and Dewey. The last named is only 5 years old.

In Salt Lake they got word that their uncle had died in Los Angeles. Their mother was coming back and wanted them to wait here for her. They waited two days, but their funds were nearly gone. Then their father died. The time of their tickets had expired.

They couldn't go forward. The two girls determined to get back to Grand Junction.

Start For the Old Home.

So they started yesterday noon. The girls carried a big lunch basket between them. The little fellows stretched their short legs trying to step from one tie. It was hot along the railroad tracks, and there was lots of dust. But they kept on and the thought of their former home gave them heart. None of them seemed to realize the stretches of desert and the mountain passes that lay ahead. How they were going to get food and shelter, they did not know. "We could get back," said Bessie, "we could get work again, Helene and I. And we could keep things going until mother came to us."

"I guess we'd be there tonight," said Dewey, with the optimism five years in this world gives. And looking at it in these two ways the four plodded along, until they got to the beginning of the Bingham Junction siding. There Cowan saw them.

He leaned out of his cab window—he had charge of the locomotive—and smiled down on them, showing a row of very white teeth against the background of a very black face.

"Where you goin'?" he asked.

They told him, and he took them in forthwith.

Patrolman Morris was hunted out by Cowan as soon as the latter got through with his engine and had her safe in the roundhouse. The officer took the youngsters to the police station. There they waited. Bessie and the two girls wondered how it was all going to come out, but they said nothing, for the force of example is everything when two little boys are in the party.

These latter, they dived into the lunch basket and finished what had been left of its contents. Then they asked how soon they would be ready to start. This caught Uncle Charles Livingston, the desk sergeant, and he saw to it that supper was served in a neighboring restaurant in a very short time.

During the evening Mrs. Cowan, who had heard the story from her husband, appeared at the station. She had been worrying over it and was very glad to take the entire family into her home. There they will stay until some arrangements can be made for their transportation back to Grand Junction.

"And then mamma will come back—won't you be glad to see me?" Bessie put it to the 5-year-old Dewey.
